Municipal Court Bill In Legislative Snarl

Just when it looked like everything was set for a decision, the municipal court bill ran into an unexpected procedural snarl in the state Legislature.

The bill would create a municipal court in Washington C. H., to serve all of Fayette County except Jefferson Township.

It also would recreate the present 39 municipal courts in the state, mostly in metropolitan cities, and set up new courts in 15 others, including the one at Washington C. H.

The bill, which has the backing of the Fayette County Bar Association, had been passed by the Senate and was sent to the House with committee approval.

Then, Wednesday, the House approved the bill, but sent it back to the Senate for concurrence in amendments. Whether action on the measure will be completed at this session today remained conjectural in view of the drive for adjournment by Friday.

The measure gives these cities new courts: Ashland, Lancaster, Washington C. H., Mount Vernon, Coshocton, Garfield Heights, Euclid, South Euclid, Parma, Willoughby, Bellefontaine, Bellvue, Cambridge, Franklin and Wooster.

Adjournment Move Collapses in Stretch

COLUMBUS, May 24—(P)—The Ohio Legislature's race toward adjournment this weekend apparently has collapsed in the stretch.

Wary legislators each day this week have hoped against hope the Republican leadership of the General Assembly could pass a miracle and end the Legislature's working sessions tomorrow or Saturday.

But they have known, despite

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

You have either heard, or maybe you've used the old alibi yourself about getting a black eye from running into a door. Well, I ran into a friend on the street in Washington C. H., the other day who was limping along on a sprained and battered ankle.

This is the story she told me of how she got her injury:

"Well, it's like this...I wanted some snowballs a couple of days ago, so I climbed this telephone pole to get some good ones. My foot slipped off the rung of the pole and I fell."

It was sometime later that she finally gave out with an explanation that she was in charge of a party and needed some flowers. There was a snowball bush in her yard by a telephone pole and she tried to get some good blooms.

Incidentally, her young son, upon seeing his mother hanging by one hand from the pole like a monkey, innocently asked, "Mommy, what are you doing up there?"

BY TOM STONE

TOKYO, May 24—(P)—A powerful Allied task force lunged across Korea's 38th Parallel today in a 13-mile strike through retreating Reds.

Americans in another tank-led force recaptured Chunchon and pushed on toward the border, 10 miles to the north. With Chunchon's fall the Reds lost the last important town taken in their latest offensive.

The Eighth Army drove north with little trouble along the entire 125-mile front. Its commander, Lt. Gen. James Van Fleet, called it a Red-killing counteroffensive.

A big armored task force knifing up the east-central front paced Thursday's advances. The column, stretching as far as the eye could see, split retreating Chinese armies.

Its 13 mile drive across the Parallel was Thursday's greatest. Elsewhere gains of four to six miles were general.

Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, 10th Corps commander, planned the big east-central thrust. AP Correspondent William C. Barnard reported Almond "personally directed the tremendous traffic" in the assembly area from a helicopter. Earlier he had visited every division commander in his corps.

Chinese troops were firing on the lead tank before the full armored and infantry column was on its way.

Almond changed to a light plane to watch the tanks battle with a Chinese holding force up the road. The task force pushed back up the line of the Reds' most powerful offensive thrust, fighting as it rumbled along. It reached the banks of the Choyang River in North Korea. Field dispatches did not pin-point it, but presumably the task force thrust up the road from Hange to Inje.

Other units in Almond's command gained more than three miles. Often they fought stiff actions with Red read guards.

Allied bombers and fighters flying ahead of the advance blasted the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Hwachon triangle in Red Korea.

This was the buildup area for the Reds' May 16 offensive. Van Fleet said that offensive ended in "complete failure" but the Communists still have power to strike again.

He said his Eighth Army had seized the initiative and was "attacking along the entire front."

Communists fell back before the advance even in the Eastern mountains.

An American officer reported Chinese were "reinforcing their screening forces all along the east-central front". And Van Fleet commented, "It's impossible to tell what the Chinese are going to do."

The Communists threw up heavy anti-aircraft fire against American cargo planes supplying troops striking through the mountains. Three planes were hit. The air force said their crews were not hurt.

The Red radio at Pyongyang asserted 23 U. S. planes had been shot down in eastern Korea in four days. There has been no such report from the Far East Air Forces (FEAF).

Expansion Asked In Foreign Aid

Truman Program Put Up to Congress

WASHINGTON, May 24—(P)—President Truman asked Congress today to vote a vast new foreign aid program costing $8,500,000,000 to help thwart "Communist dreams of world conquest."

Of the total, $6,250,000,000 will go to strengthen the defenses of this country's friends around the world, Mr. Truman told Congress.

He said the money is needed as part of a plan to build up within Russia "internal pressures" which will cause Soviet leaders to abandon their policy of aggression.

"It is too early to predict how or when this policy will change," he said in a special message sent to Capitol Hill. "But this program of mutual security will help to bring about such a change."

"It is certain that the united vigor and cooperative action of the free world can produce such results if we act in time."

"No system based on slavery and terror can long withstand the tremendous human energies that are released by the advance of freedom."

Barrier to Communism

Mr. Truman said that for the time being emphasis must be placed on building up the free world's defenses to "put a stop to the Kremlin's hope of easy conquest." But economic aid is needed, too, he added, because "growing prosperity in the free countries will frustrate Soviet political warfare."

"In these circumstances," the president said, "the Soviet rulers will face growing internal pressures, x x x The rulers of the Soviet Union will be forced by these pressures to abandon their policy of aggression."

The money the president requested would go to speed shipments of American weapons and economic aid to nearly 50 friendly countries. It covers the fiscal year beginning July 1.

A record sum of $6,890,000,000 would be earmarked for western European nations, described by the president as "the most tempting prize for Soviet ambitions and our strongest Allies in the world struggle for freedom."

The remaining $1,614,000,000 would be spread among friendly governments in the Far East, south and southeast Asia, the near and Middle East and Latin America.

Bulwark in Far East

A total of $930,000,000 would be set aside for military and economic help to Asiatic nations including Formosa "to help keep that island out of the hands of the Communists."

The president also urged Congress to increase by $1,000,000,000 the lending authority of the

Even Yelling Is Taboo Under City Ordinance

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., May 24—(P)—Two city councilmen want to be sure this quiet and peaceful city stays quiet and peaceful.

Councilmen Otis F. Cavenish, Jr., and Edward V. Lee proposed yesterday an ordinance that would forbid yelling between 11 P. M. and 8 A. M. the penalty: $15 and seven days in jail the first time, and up to $100 and 14 days for a fourth offense.

Such things as squeaky brakes, excessive horn tooting, loud speakers and the popping of firecrackers would be forbidden at any time.

American Casualties In Korea Heavier Than Those Revealed

WASHINGTON, May 24—(P)—Senator Bridges (R-NH) said today total United States casualties in Korea -- including both battle and non-battle -- "are substantially more than double those officially announced."

Bridges told reporters this as he emerged from the closed-door testimony by Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, on the firing of General Douglas MacArthur.

Bridges said "non-battle casualties have been kept from the public announcements even though they include men who have suffered frozen legs and arms that have been amputated."

He added that a large number of non-battle casualties recover and are able to go back to combat or other duty.

"For the first time in these hearings the total casualties have been brought out," Bridges said, adding that they should appear later in the transcript of Bradley's testimony furnished newsmen after it has been censored.

Total Set at 141,955

A senator, who would not permit use of his name, said Bradley testified that total Korean casualties now are 141,955 including a total of 11,292 dead.

This source said that battle casualties among U. S. forces in Korea amounted to 69,276 of whom 10,680 were dead while non-battle were 72,679 of whom 612 are dead.

The newest defense department announcement listed 66,816 casualties, up 1,293 over the preceding week.

The latest figures, released yesterday, cover casualties whose families were notified through May 18. They include 10,038 killed, 45,567 wounded and 11,211 missing.

Of the wounded 1,174 have since died, and of the missing 101 are known dead, making the combat death toll 11,313. The missing total included 1,199 who have since returned and 115 known prisoners of war, leaving 9,796 currently missing.

Charles P. Taft At Meeting Here

Leaves No Doubt About Intentions

Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati left little doubt that he was a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor Wednesday night, when he spoke here at a meeting of almost 100 young Republicans and guests.

The speaker left old time politics gasping when he threw conventions to the wind and gave a frank analysis of what he believes in and how he expects to achieve some of his aims.

Taft talked about such political dynamite as apportionment, price supports and taxing trucks to support the highway program. At this early stage of the game a stand one way or the other on such subjects is generally believed to be "political suicide."

The Cincinnati attorney and church leader, who has already made appearances on behalf of his candidacy for the nomination for governor, indicated that he will conduct a vigorous campaign, attacking the administration of Gov. Frank Lausche.

"There is needed in Columbus leadership in the same general political party as in the Legislature. With the set-up we have now it's a field day for lobbyists," the speaker declared.

He gave those present at the meeting an insight into his political theories when he told them that our liberties are threatened by a trend towards centralization.

Gives Political Theories

On the other hand, Taft said there are some very legitimate

Three Men Killed In Auto Accident

NEW VIENNA, May 24—(P)—Three men were killed today and two others were injured seriously when two automobile collided head-on near here. State Highway Patrolman Bruce Frye reported.

He identified the dead as Robert Runk, 23, of New Vienna, driver of one of the cars; Robert Thatcher, 24, of Lynx, in Adams County, and Douglas Hughes, 19, of Hillsboro.

The injured, who were taken to a Hillsboro hospital, were listed as Othie Hughes, his brother, and Charles W. Grooms of Lynx. The Hughes' brothers were from Hillsboro.

Patrolman Frye said the accident occurred on a straightaway section of Route 73, one mile north of New Vienna. He added that Thatcher was a passenger in Hughes' car.

New Gun Contract Awarded Firestone

AKRON, May 24—(P)—The Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. announced today it has been awarded a $62,000,000 contract to build a brand new type of anti-aircraft guns for the navy.

The new AA unit consists of twin three-inch guns and will replace the four-gun millimeter mounts used on warships during the last war.

The units weighs 34,000 pounds, will be fired by radar control and will be loaded automatically, Firestone said.

About 1,200 will be employed in Akron when production begins.

Weakness Bared In Europe Defense

Gen. Bradley Implies Criticism Of Method of MacArthur Ouster

WASHINGTON, May 24—(P)—Gen. Omar Bradley told senators today he thinks President Truman was right in firing Gen. Douglas MacArthur but the "method" of doing it "probably could have been handled better."

This implied criticism of the summary fashion in which MacArthur was dismissed came at a session with Senate investigators in which Bradley also:

Political Corruption Hit by Moderator of Presbyterian Church

CINCINNATI, May 24—(P)—The titular leader of 2,440,000 Presbyterians called on his flock today to help restore character "in all our civic and political life."

The appeal came from Dr. Hugh Ivan Evans of Dayton, retiring moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America.

Dr. Evans' sermon opened the 163rd general assembly of the nation's largest Presbyterian denomination.

"Corruption, bribery, deceit in high places find the church an unwearied foe," he told the 880 commissioners (delegates) who constitute his church's highest governing body.

"Here I appeal to you to go on record for the restoration of character in all our civic and political life."

Election of a successor to Dr. Evans, who has held office a year, was the general assembly's first order of business.

(Rev. Harold J. Braden, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Washington C. H., said he was unable to carry out plans for attending the early part of the conference, but, he added, he hoped to take in part of it.)

2 Teen-age Yeggs Escape from Jail

STUEBENVILLE, May 24—(P)—Two teenagers held on a safe cracking charge pried aside a bar and broke out of the Jefferson County jail today.

The youths are Richard Rush, 16, of near Steubenville and Donald McMillen, 17, of Bloomfield.

Police say they had confessed breaking into Jefferson Union High School at nearby Richmond May 9 and making off with a safe. Authorities recovered $660 when the boys were captured.

Allan T. Solomon, who had been wanted by the U. S. Post Office Department for mail fraud, and sought throughout the United States, walked into police headquarters here Wednesday evening.

Just inside the door he saw his picture in the "rogue's gallery" posted on a large bulletin board along with many other "wanted" persons.

"Ah! There is my picture" he said with a wry smile.

However, Solomon did not walk into police headquarters voluntarily.

He was accompanied by Deputy U. S. Marshal Guy W. Hixon, who had him in custody and was taking him from Miami, Florida, to Detroit, Michigan, for prosecution on the charges.

The deputy marshal left Hixon in the city jail over night, and went to a local hotel for the night.

Early Thursday morning he took his prisoner from the city jail and headed toward Detroit.

Solomon also went under the name of Lyle Moss, Orville Fields, Sidney Miller, Ben Miller and others.

He is 29 years of age and admitted having been selling large orders of steel with no steel to deliver.

His arrest in Miami ended a several months nation-wide search.

Vivian Baughn In AF Disaster

Experimental Plane Wrecked in Indiana

Vivian Baughn, 45, formerly of Washington C. H., and six other men were killed and five injured Wednesday, in the crash of a big army cargo plane near New Lisbon, Ind.

Baughn, civilian sound technician and son of Mr. and Mrs. Werter Baughn of the Jeffersonville Road, was killed outright and his body badly charred.

He lived at 1141 Lagonda, Ave., Springfield, and was employed at Wright-Patterson Air Base.

The huge C-124 Globemaster cargo plane, the nation's largest, crashed in flames on a test flight from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

The injured men, in Henry County Memorial Hospital in New Castle, include four air force men and one civilian technician.

They were aboard the giant experimental plane Wednesday when it hit a tree top and plunged through a clump of trees before crashing on its belly in a plowed field near New Lisbon, about 30 miles west of the Ohio state line near Richmond.

Air force officers investigated reports that two of the monster plane's four engines reversed just before the crash. One survivor, James Stelyn, 30, Dayton, Ohio, said:

"It sounded like an engine was running away."

The 105-ton plane could carry 200 fully equipped troops. It was 127 feet long and 40 feet high, and had a 300-mile-an-hour cruising speed.

Crash Victims Listed

In addition to the former Washington C. H. man those killed were:

Capt. Francis M. Blair, 36, Dayton.

Capt. Richard B. Varnum, 30, Enon (Clark County).

M-Sgt. Donald L. Shady, 29, Fairborn.

John Robert Say, 33, Dayton.

Harold R. Hohn, Jr., 27, Dayton.

Robert L. Hellmuth, 29, Springfield.

Those injured were:

M-Sgt. Jack R. Sowers, 36, Fairborn.

M-Sgt. Cassius Zedaker, 35, Medway (Clark County).

James Stelyn, 30, Dayton.

Gasoline Price War Breaks Out in Akron

AKRON, May 24—(P)—Motorists were buying gasoline in Akron today for as little as 21 cents a gallon. An unannounced price war is in progress.

Most Akron stations were selling gasoline for 21.9 cents, compared with the approximately 25 cents in most other Ohio stations.

Trade circles said Sun Oil Co. started with a price cut from 24.3 to 23.3 cents on May 2. Others followed. Today most stations went down another 1.4 cents.

Toledo Man Drowned

PORT WASHINGTON, Wis., May 24—(P)—William Rydo, 47, of Toledo, drowned in Lake Michigan last night when he fell off a ladder while returning from shore to the coal carrier J. Clare Miller.

He was a fireman aboard the ship which was loading here.

Parents Urged To Help Protect Children

Several mothers in this city have called the Record-Herald to express their anxiety over the number of children whose parents allow them to play in streets and highways leading through Washington C. H., where the traffic is heavy.

They have urged that some word of warning be given parents, especially mothers, regarding the extreme danger which these small children face from fast traveling automobiles and trucks.

Police officers also have added their warning. They say that with the small force of patrolmen in the city it is impossible for police cars constantly to patrol the streets in an effort to safeguard these children.

Several times accidents have been averted only because of the watchfulness of drivers of cars. It is difficult for parents always to keep their children from walking into the traffic congested streets, the youngsters are sometimes hard to force to stay in their own yards, but constant stressing of the dangers they face should be a regular duty of mothers and fathers.

Another matter which is claiming the attention of police here is the number of comparatively young children who roam about the streets of Washington C. H. at nights. Some appear to be walking through other people's yards and gardens, sometimes destroying plants or flowers. This may not be intentional but it causes much annoyance.

Police Chief Long is reported stating that there is no curfew ordinance in this city, but says that police are making every effort to pick up youngsters, unaccompanied by their parents, who are found on the streets during late night hours.

This is another thing that requires the cooperation of parents, some of whom seem to know or care little about their children being out at night. Here is one way that children become victims of juvenile delinquency.

Who's the Safer Driver?

Whenever the question of responsibility for highway accidents is raised, truck operators have vehemently protested their observance of the rules of the road. Their claim is that as a group truck drivers are the best and safest. Motor vehicle Director Ferber of New Jersey has produced statistics which contradict these claims.

Mr. Ferber reports that last year trucks were involved in 17,970 accidents in his state, or 21 per cent of the 79,970 total, accounting for 185 fatalities, or 24 per cent of the 687 total, and for 5,986 personal injury cases, or 18 per cent of the 33,112 total. Truckers may answer that as compared to other drivers they travel many miles more and are therefore liable to greater hazards. But it is also a fact that commercial type vehicles represent only a trifle more than one-eighth of New Jersey's total motor vehicle registrations.

OPA All Over Again

Congressional mail-bags are beginning to bulge again with letters from small business owners who are getting a belly-full of government in operation. The OPS, direct first generation lineal descendant of OPA, is on the job. It has inherited all of the vices of its parent and since the virtues were invisible to the human eye, these must be left for some economist of 2051 to seek.

If these are exciting times, it must be admitted that American taxpayers pay steeply for the entertainment.

This Is School Nobody Knows

By Hal Boyle

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(AP)—

There is no truth to reports that students at the University of Notre Dame sleep on footballs at night instead of pillows.

I visited Notre Dame's beautiful 1700-acre campus the other day for the first time. It was alive with flying birds, but I didn't see a single flying football.

(Editor's Note: Spring practice ended the week before.)

The university currently is engaged in trying to enlarge its endowment fund, one of the smallest of any major educational institution in the country. It is also engaged in a big building program, including a new science hall and the 1951 football team.

The faculty and students at Notre Dame are just as proud of the Fighting Irish football prowess as millions of fans across the nation are. But football isn't quite the cult here that jealous rivals sometimes believe it to be.

In an often-quoted speech of tribute to the 1950 team that lost four games, the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame, denied any intention to de-emphasize football here.

"Notre Dame never did over-emphasize football," he said, pointing out that its athletes had to maintain a better-than-average scholastic standing in order to play. "We shall always want Notre Dame men to play to win so long as there is a Notre Dame. To the weak of heart, I say, keep your eye on the Notre Dame team of fifty-one!"

Here are some facts about Notre Dame that don't usually hit the sports pages:

It was founded in 1842 by Father Sorin and six French brothers of the congregation of the Holy Cross. Their entire capital: $400—and faith.

Once they were short of shoes the brothers had to take turns going out in the winter. Another time they sold a cow for fifty cents in order to buy an ax.

The original ten-acre campus has expanded to more than 1700 acres. It includes two lakes, athletic fields, 45 buildings and an 18-hole golf course.

The student body of nearly 5,000 lives under a discipline almost as rigid as that at West Point and Annapolis. They "eat, sleep, study, pray and play" on the campus. There are 13 residence halls—but no fraternities.

A student may pass an individual course with a grade of 70. But to be graduated or to compete in intercollegiate athletics he has to maintain an average of 77.

The basic tradition at Notre Dame is spiritual, not athletic.

About ten percent of its student enrollment is Protestant. Its alumni include prominent Protestant clergymen and Jewish rabbis. Its board of lay trustees has been headed by a Protestant.

Many Protestants have served on its faculty. The laymen on the faculty outnumber members of religious orders about three to one.

About eight percent of the university's gross income comes from football receipts. Much of this goes to help needy students. Some 15 to 25 percent of the student body earn part of their expenses.

Then thousand Notre Dame alumni served in the Second World War. More than 1,200 were wounded, 334 killed.

The university is as proud of its scientific record as it is of its athletic achievements. The first wireless message transmitted successfully in this country was sent from its campus in 1899. The basic formula for synthetic rubber was discovered here in 1920. Its present germ-free laboratory is world known.

Some here feel that because of the overshadowing publicity given its football teams the real Notre Dame has become "the school nobody knows."

But the university sums up its own aims in two statements: "Knowledge of God is the beginning of all wisdom."

The purpose here is to teach students "not only how to make a living, but also how to live."

And Other Pressures of Life

By George Sokolsky

I came across a letter in a newspaper by Seba Eldridge, professor of sociology at the University of Kansas. What these professors say is only important because they influence the minds and characters of our children. The learned professor is interested in democratic collectivization -- the sort of thing which they do over in England but which the British object to when it happens in Iran. The professor approves and says:

"With virtually no exceptions, the development of collective enterprise in the United States has been due to the pressure of consumer and public interests. Socialization has been a gradual, piecemeal, peaceful process in this country, not the kind of revolutionary action Karl Marx predicted."

"These processes and factors should be most encouraging to the American people."

I have been wondering what there is to be encouraged about.

Dangers of Influenza Reduced by Medicine

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

In recent months, widespread outbreaks of a mild type of so-called influenza have occurred in many parts of the world, including the United States. Despite these epidemics, however, physicians do not this year fear a repetition of the world epidemic of 1918, in which so many millions died.

This is not for the reason that we have developed an effective preventive or cure against influenza, but because the chief cause of death in the 1918 epidemic was not the disease itself but the complications which came in its wake, particularly pneumonia and other infections of the lungs. Against most of these germs we are well defended by penicillin and the other antibiotics.

Main Problem

When it comes to developing a vaccine against influenza, the main problem is that there seems to be so many strains of this virus. Apparently there are four common types, of which only the two most frequent have been identified as virus A and virus B. Vaccines have been prepared against these, but we have none for the others.

Influenza causes such symptoms as varying degrees of fever, some weakness, prostration, and aching in the muscles. In some cases, there may be sore throat. Later on, the patient may develop typical symptoms of a cold, with nasal discharge.

Some favor use of the vaccine to prevent the disease, particularly when there are indications that a widespread outbreak may occur. Others have not found the vaccine to be of great value. Elderly persons, perhaps, should be given the vaccine because they do not withstand the disease very well.

As I said earlier, the greatest dangers are found in the complications of influenza. For this reason, when influenza of any severity occurs, it may be well to give treatment with one of the various antibiotics, such as penicillin or aureomycin or with the sulfonamide drugs to keep these infections with germs from occurring. It is also possible that the aureomycin may have some direct effect on the influenza itself.

In any event, the patient with influenza should be kept at complete rest in bed, and should be made as comfortable as possible by giving him plenty of fluids, a nutritious diet, and such drugs as may be prescribed by the physician, to relieve pain, discomfort, and sore throat.

It would appear that the dangers of influenza have been greatly reduced by antibiotics, but it still can be a discomforting and a temporarily disabling disorder.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Worried: Is inflammation of the small intestine a common disease? Is it dangerous? Is it contagious?

Answer: Inflammation of the intestine occurs fairly often. It may be the result of infection with such germs as the dysentery bacillus or a parasite known as the Endamoeba histolytica which causes amebic dysentery. Certain types of enteritis occur without any detectable cause. This form is known as regional ileitis.

City Accepts Offer For Wider Street

BELLEVUE, May 24 — (AP) — Chuck holes are going to come out of Route 20 here. City councilmen voted last night to accept a state offer and approved widening the main east-west highway.

The state had offered to put up $665,000 to repave the 1.6 miles of the road in this city, which straddles the Huron and Sandusky County lines. But the state demanded the roadway be widened to 54-feet, allowing room for four lanes of traffic and a two-foot dividing strip.

For four years the council had held out for a 44-foot highway, backing objections of landowners who didn't want their lawns reduced.

Non-atomic Blast Rocks Utah Desert

DUGWAY, Utah, May 24 — (AP) — A blast one-fifth as strong as an atom bomb shook the western Utah desert yesterday, but aside from a dust cloud effects were barely visible from 2 1/2 miles.

The explosion -- conducted by the army engineers -- was described as the strongest non-atomic blast ever touched off.

One hundred and sixty tons of T-N-T were detonated beneath the surface of the ground. Spectators saw the ground shudder, then the blast burst through the surface and sent a cloud of smoke and dust boiling to an estimated height of 2,000 feet.

The explosion was part of the army engineers' experiments to determine the effect of underground blasts on varying types of construction.

We feel that a 75th birthday is quite an accomplishment, especially when 36 of these years have been devoted to serving the musical needs of a community.

Yes, it was 1915 when dad moved to Washington C. H. with his new bride (Mom to us) and bought the Summers & Son Store located here from his father, H. C. Summers and brother Carl.

By the time we came along dad was well established here, and there were few roads in the county and nearby communities that he hadn't traveled.

Then as now he treated people fairly and honestly, and our only hope is that in the years to come we too can look back with pride on our past work.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, May 24—(P)—The four branches of the armed forces -- army, navy, air force and coast guard -- will get a new system of military justice, starting May 31.

Its purpose: to give servicemen, accused of punishable offenses, fairer treatment and more of the kind of legal protection they would have received in civilian life.

The system, which will work the same in all four branches, is the latest step in the unification of the armed forces, approved by Congress in 1948.

A group of prominent civilian lawyers was appointed that year to work out this new and uniform system of justice for servicemen. The result of their work goes into effect next Thursday.

From now on a serviceman, found guilty of a serious offense, can appeal his case to a superior court which never existed before -- called the court of military appeals -- where the judges will be civilians, not military men.

It will be the final court of appeals for all four services except where the death penalty is involved. The president has been, and will remain, the final voice on that.

Yesterday the president named three civilian lawyers to this new high court: Paul W. Brozman, dean of the Tulane University law school; George W. Latimer, member of Utah's supreme court; and Robert Emmett Quinn, judge of Rhode Island's superior court.

In addition to this court -- although penalties for the various offenses remain pretty much the same -- new safeguards and appeal machinery have been set up for servicemen.

An example is given below of how this new system will work in the four branches. Some parts of it have been in use in one or more branches before now, but not all. And the legal steps in the various branches differed. It was for this reason the decision was made to make the whole business uniform.

Take Jones, an army private, to illustrate how this system will now work the same way in all the services:

He's arrested for robbery. He must be told what his offense is. The company commander makes a preliminary investigation. If satisfied, the charge is justified he notifies the regiment commander, a colonel. The latter then orders a more complete investigation.

At this investigation Jones has a right to be represented by a civilian lawyer of his own choosing or an officer appointed for him. Jones can give evidence in his own behalf of this investigation and examine witnesses against him.

If the colonel decides there's enough evidence for a trial before a general court martial, he notifies the division commander, a general. The latter turns the case over to his legal advisor, a staff judge advocate, who must be an officer and a lawyer. He makes arrangements for the trial.

Presiding as judge will be an officer who is also a lawyer. (In the past he was on the jury, too, but from now on will not take part in reaching a verdict.) There must be at least five other members of the court. Usually, they're officers but not necessarily lawyers. Jones can insist that one-third of them be enlisted men like himself.

The prosecuting counsel, an officer, must be a lawyer. So must the defense counsel, another officer, appointed to defend Jones, or Jones can bring in a civilian lawyer, say the court finds Jones guilty and sentences him to jail for five years.

Then the general in command of the division--with the help of his staff judge advocate -- will review the case. He can overrule the court and free Jones or reduce his sentence, or agree with the verdict.

If the general doesn't free Jones, the case must then go to the army's judge advocate general who turns it over to a review board made up of three army officers, all lawyers.

Jones can be represented before this board by his own civilian lawyer or an officer-lawyer appointed for him. The board can do anything it wishes about the sentence, except increase it: turn Jones free, reduce his sentence, or uphold it.

If Jones isn't freed, the soldier has 30 days in which to appeal to the new court of military appeals. That court's decision then is final.

(All this extensive procedure is only for men accused and convicted of major offenses. Men arrested for minor offenses get legal safeguards, but not all these mentioned here, and can't appeal to that high court.)

OPS Regulations At C of C Office

Copies of the Office of Price Stabilization regulation covering all types of services are now available at the Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce, according to Edward F. Wagner, director of the Columbus district.

Ceiling price regulation number 34 covers a variety of services such as automotive repairing, washing and lubricating, beauty shops, shoe repairing, laundries, dry cleaning, carpet and rug cleaners, furniture crating and all like services where a labor rate or a personal service is a portion of the price for a service sold.

All prices and rates for those persons or concerns operating in Columbus and southeastern Ohio must be filed with the Columbus district Office of Price Stabilization at 68 E. Gay St. in Columbus within thirty days of the effective date of the regulation, according to Wagner. The ruling becomes effective on May 16.

DOES UGLY FAT HIDE YOUR SLENDER FIGURE

If ugly fat is hiding your slender figure, you'll be interested in the success experienced by thousands of people like Mrs. Leonard Barton.

Here is Mrs. Barton's own statement: "Having heard so much about Renna I decided to try it. After using five bottles I have lost 35 lbs. in about two and one half months. To lose weight and to keep regular there is nothing finer. I have not dieted either. My husband has started taking it, and on the first bottle says he feels so much better. He also has already lost some weight." It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain 4 ounces of liquid Renna Concentrate at your druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two table-spoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple easy way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves, just return it for your money back. Note how quickly bloated disappears--how much better you feel. Insist on and be sure there is nothing finer. I have not

New Books Give Pointers For Cutting Food Budgets

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Every homemaker is anxious to serve good meals at less cost these days. Here are four cookbooks to help you do it:
The Practical Book of Food Shopping, by Helen S. Hovey and Kay Reynolds (Lippincott $3.45) is a guide to shopping thrifty by two authors with plenty of experience.
Helen Stone Hovey teaches Foods and Nutrition at New York University and feeds a husband. Kay Reynolds, a writer in the food field, keeps house for her husband and small son. This book runs the gamut of all the food categories from meats to sweets. It tells you everything you need to know from choosing economical cuts for meat dishes to buying the most economical kind of milk. It's a complete glossary of what's available in our markets, how it's sold, and how to store it.

Magic Cook Book—The Key to Kitchen Economy, prepared by the Food Editors of True Story Magazine. (Bartholomew House, $2.98). Chosen with an eye to economy, these recipes and menus are planned for whole-family acceptance. But even though prevailing food budgets have been a prime consideration, good taste has not been sacrificed; a fine point of view indeed, since dishes that are not eaten with enjoyment (no matter how little they cost) are hardly a saving. New homemakers as well as more experienced ones will like the inclusion of factual material on food buying and preparation. Another plus feature is that women all over the country have contributed their family's favorite recipes, and these have been put in clear step-by-step form so that anyone who tries them should have gratifying results.

The Hamburger Cook Book, by Esther K. Schwartz and Ruth Koopman. (Abelard Press, $2.50.) No cookbook was ever timed better than this one! Its "200 ways of using ground beef to achieve greater variety in the daily menu" ought to be a lifesaver in these days of high meat costs when hamburger is bound to be used more than ever. One of the authors lives in the city, one on the farm—both with children underfoot—and so they have an all-around approach.

They explain the general terms used in the recipes; give recipes from skillet dishes to meat loaves; and there's a chapter of penny pinchers. The professional backgrounds and home activities of the authors have been put to good use in producing well-organized, usable recipes.

Modern Homemaker's Cookbook by Beth Bailey McLean. (M. Barrows, $3.00.) The author of this fine cookbook formerly taught Foods and Nutrition at two of our large universities; she now directs the homemaking department of Swift and Company, runs her own home, and has brought up two children. The tone of her book is that of a friendly practical homemaker who has a real interest in the problem of beginning cooks.

The recipes are Mrs. McLean's favorites, ones her family and friends have enjoyed most. In addition there's information on buying and storing food, as well as important nutrition material. The latter is woven into the book and is not talked down or tricked up. Because there is so much detailed kitchen procedure included in a concise and readable way, this book is particularly timely now when what with the high cost of food everyone needs to cook well. Brides will love the book because many of the recipes yield servings for two or three, others for four or more. As a matter of fact, the business of recipes quantity has been handled in a sensible, rather than an arbitrary fashion, so there's a nice balance. The chapter on meat cookery, as you would expect, is strictly up to the minute.

Federal Payroll Up

WASHINGTON, May 24—(AP)—The federal government's payroll increased by 53,205 persons during March to a total of 2,361,566, the Civil Service Commission said.

Water Crisis over In Bowling Green

BOWLING GREEN, May 24—(AP)—Bowling Green's water crisis is over.

Mayor C. W. Dick announced an end to the three-day water shortage today. But, he asked the 12,000 residents of this Wood County city to conserve water until July 1. That's the date the city's new $1,500,000 water system is scheduled to be completed.

Mayor Dick said the city pumped 1,037,000 gallons from its 43 wells yesterday and that citizens used only 798,000 gallons. This enabled the city to bring the level of its reservoir and tower to normal, the mayor said. The water famine began Saturday during the hotter weather.

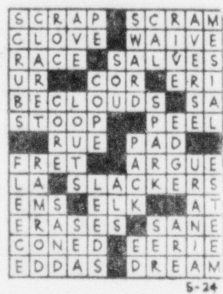

Lawn sprinkling and the like, the mayor said, caused a shortage.

Free Life Insurance

WASHINGTON, May 24—(AP)—Rep. Ayres (R-Ohio) has introduced a bill to allow National Guardsmen who die while training to be covered by free servicemen's insurance provided by the government.

BOY SCOUTS get some boating experience at Camp Lazarus.

The biggest scouting activity of the year in Ohio will take place Sunday at 2 P. M. at Camp Lazarus, when 3,000 persons are expected to gather for an "open house" of the camp and to dedicate a new $20,000 training center.

Scout Executive Paul W. Handel and members of his staff are being assisted by Scout leaders in each of the thirteen districts in entertaining what is expected to be the largest crowd ever to attend a function at the Scout Reservation, located just six miles south of Delaware on route 23.

New Type of Rust Is Threat to Wheat

COLUMBUS —(AP)—A new and virulent brand of rust threatens the 1951 wheat crop. U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists have identified the new rust as "15B" which showed up in some sections and caused serious trouble last year.

The scientists now believe "15B" is the most virulent race of rust ever found in this country. The new type seems to be the progeny of two older races.

Wheat breeders of the department are cooperating with states to turn out a resistant wheat as a defense against "15B".

The national distribution of sexes was the same as that in Ohio.

Small boys swung closer to balance in percentage of the sexes for the total populations. As of April, 1950, the Ohio population was 7,946,000. The number of males was 3,935,000 or 49.5 percent while there were 4,011,000 females, 50.5 percent of the total.

Ohio increased 15 percent in population between 1940 and 1950. At that rate of gain, with more than 100,000 people added during the year, the state now contains about 8,060,000 persons.

Other highlights of the afternoon include a band concert by the Regional Boy Scout Band, conducted by Scoutmaster L. R. Bucher, to whom the training center will be dedicated.

Scouts of this area, their families and friends, are invited to attend this ceremony. They may bring picnic baskets and have their evening meal on the grounds if they wish. There is no admission charge, and everyone is welcome.

Women Outnumber Men in Ohio And Nation, Census Analysis Shows

Women are in the majority in Ohio as well as in the nation, according to an analysis made by the Ohio Development Publicity Commission.

The figures, based on latest U. S. census figures, show that 51 percent of Ohio's 3,315,000 inhabitants over 21 years in April, 1950, were women and 49 percent were men.

While no figures are yet available for Fayette County, it is believed that the Ohio average would also hold good in this county.

moved to Ohio to work in industry.

Reflecting the small crop of depression babies, the 10-to-14 year olds decreased 5.8 percent. The 15-to-24 year bracket had a loss of 1.9 percent.

More than two-thirds of Ohio's people are urban, that is, they live in communities of over 2,500, or around the edges of big cities. The percentage of urban residents is 70.1.

Less than half the rural Ohioans live on farms. The rural farm population is only 11.1 percent of the state total. The remainder live in small villages or, though they live in the country, do not farm.

More than three million of Ohio's eight million people are at work, according to the Ohio Development and Publicity Commission. By U. S. census returns the Ohio labor force in 1950 was 3,206,000 of whom 3,069,000 were employed. Only 4 percent were out of work as contrasted with 15 percent in 1940.

Of the 3,069,000 Ohioans at work 7.9 percent were in agriculture; 5.1 percent in construction; 34.4 percent in manufacturing; eight percent in utilities; 18.9 percent in trade; 18.8 percent in service industries, and about 6.5 percent in other work, including less than one percent in mining.

Employment Break-down
Private industry employed 76.7 percent of the Ohioans at work in 1950, and 1.2 percent had unpaid work at home.

The self-employed group was 13.4 percent of the working population in 1950, against 17.4 percent in 1940. The number working for national, state and local governments increased from 7.3 percent in 1940 to 8.8 percent in 1950.

There was a decided shift between 1940 and 1950 toward the employment of women in industry. In 1940, only 23.4 percent of the women 14 and over were in the labor force. In 1950, the percentage of women in the labor was 27.6, and most of them were employed.

In 1940, of Ohioans at work, 23.6 percent were women, 76.4 percent were men. By 1950 the percentages had changed to 26.8 women, 73.2 men.

There are some 1,500 species of the sea animal called brittle star.

Double Tractors Win In Manpower Shortage

FINDLAY, Ill. —(AP)—Farmer Leo Roney figures he has the manpower shortage licked.

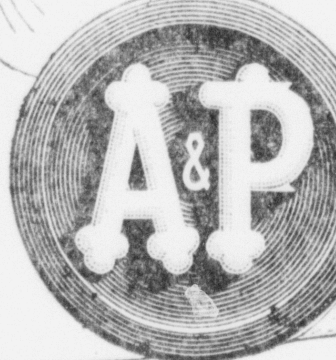

He hitched two tractors tandem to pull a five-bottom plow. He rides the lead tractor and operates the one behind by a rod throttle. The rear tractor's clutch lever is extended to the front tractor by an angle iron and pipe lever.

He said he can plow 35 to 40 acres in a 12-hour day with the outfit. Normally, a farmer does well to plow 20 acres in the same amount of time.

Fighter Pilot on Leave Here

Lt. Bill Miller Tells About Korea Fighting

One of the first American fighter pilots to fly against the North Koreans is home on leave here, visiting with his family.

He is 30-year-old William Miller, Jr.

A veteran of fighter escort flying with the Eighth Air Force over Europe during World War II, Miller had enough combat time over Korea from July through November of last year to last him for sometime.

In Air Force P-51's, he flew many bombing and strafing missions against the enemy when the Reds were at full strength, pushing UN troops into the tight Pusan perimeter.

During some of these hectic days Lt. Miller would fly as many as four missions a day, taking off from an airfield within hearing distance of the front line firing.

"We had an assembly line on the air strip. We would land and pull in behind others (planes) to get our ammo and bombs, Lt. Miller recalls.

The Washington C. H. flyer said his squadron didn't get any napalm (jellied gasoline) bombs until the UN forces started their push northward against the Communists.

Handful of Planes

In fact, when Lt. Miller first arrived in Korea American fighter pilots had to use some P-51's which had been loaned to the South Koreans. Lt. Miller said the South Koreans weren't doing too well with them though.

It wasn't until after the U.S.S. Boxer, an American aircraft carrier, arrived loaded with P-51's that the Americans could bring airpower, in any proportions, to bear on the Reds.

Lt. Miller helped the UN troops push the Reds to the Manchurian border, and flew several missions from an air strip at Pyongyang, capital of North Korea.

During the time the UN was pushing the Reds north he knocked out many tanks, Red emplacements and killed several ground troops.

Once Lt. Miller was written up by an AP war correspondent, William Jorden, Jorden wrote about efforts to knock out some Reds who were in dug out positions on the top of a hill.

Lt. MILLER relaxes on front porch of his parents' home in outfit a little more comfortable than uniform.

When doughboys of the U. S. 25th Division failed to blast out the foe, Lt. Miller and another pilot were summoned.

"The two pilots raked the hill with machinegun fire and dropped jellied gasoline bombs on the huge rock formation on the crest where most of the Reds were dug in," Jorden wrote.

Huge chunks broke off the rock formation after each aerial attack. Later the Americans took the hill.

Serves on Ground, Too

To help give the flyers some idea of the effectiveness of their work and the need for close cooperation between ground and air, Lt. Miller and other flyers in the U. S. Fifth Air Force went on the ground with the troops.

Lt. Miller served as a ground controller for almost a month and was frequently exposed to fire while he spotted targets for planes. He recalls how effective planes were on one occasion in burning out 600 North Koreans who had holed up on a hill.

"They couldn't have got them any other way except with planes," Lt. Miller remarked.

Asked what the North Koreans looked like after they had been bombed with sticky gasoline jellied bombs, Lt. Miller said: "They were smelly."

He said the jellied gasoline sticks to anything, including the human body. Lt. Miller said it is easy to drop on a tank, but doesn't always knock a crew out—it just heats them up.

Draws Thunderjets Next

He said he was order to Korea from Clark Field in the Philippines. While in the Philippines his wife was with him for about a year and a half. He described the living accommodations at Clark Field as "the best."

While in the Philippines, Lt. Miller got an opportunity to see much of the Far East—Java, Indonesia, India and Pakistan. He was flying troop carrier trans-

Artist's Paint Is Just Wood Fit Together

LEOMINSTER, Mass. — Raymond L. Harrington "paints" with wood.

He uses different shades of wood, cuts them, fits them together, and thus creates the shadows and highlights of his pictures. The hobby, which Harrington has followed for 17 years, is called marquetry. He says the ancient Egyptians started it, using it on mummy cases.

Until recently, according to Harrington, lack of a satisfactory glue has handicapped modern craftsmen who have tried to follow this little-practiced art.

Interest in antique furniture and the craftsmanship used in reproducing it led him to marquetry.

Harrington traces his picture, transfers the lines to a clear plastic sheet, then uses it in planning and laying out his coloring. His materials are thin, 1-32nd inch, veneers — woods such as ebony, zebra wood, cherry, thuya, Circassian walnut, English hawwood.

With an ultra-thin jig saw, he cuts out the picture components. The he glues and clamps them to a base. His most ambitious effort was fashioned of 205 pieces of 25 different kinds of wood.

Lately, he's been trying portraiture and he says it's not easy -- especially catching the gleam in the eye.

Do you need to develop patience? If you master marquetry, says Harrington, you can't miss. He has done 30 pictures in 17 years.

ports at the time.

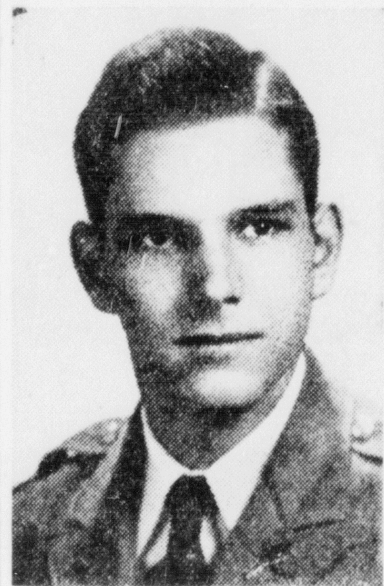

His next tour of duty will be at Bergstrom Field near Austin, Tex., where he will fly the hot F-84 Thunderjets. He will be with General LeMay's strategic air command. But he looks forward to returning to flying twin engines — and someplace other than Texas.

Fortunately, his wife and seven-year-old daughter, Beverly, will accompany him. He will live in a home owned by another flyer whom Lt. Miller met while enroute home from the Far East.

Lt. Miller has been in the service about seven years, enlisting in August of 1942. He got out of the air force for two years, from July, 1945, to August, 1947, after the war, but again requested active duty and was called back into the service with the outbreak of Korean hostilities.

He will report to his new duty station sometime early in June.

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE!

What a blow it would be to this country, to this community, to you—if essential automobile production, necessary replacement parts and repair services were cut off!

Automobiles are essential . . . and we know, through research, that 65% of all automobile trips are for purposes of going to and from work, for business and for shopping. In fact, only 16% of passenger car usage is for social or recreational purposes. And did you know that about 21 million automobiles are at the point where they must soon be replaced?

The fact is that 51.4% of all passenger cars in operation, average 10 years of age! In itself, the task of keeping these cars rolling is huge. But whatever happens . . . we, as franchised automobile dealers, are doing and will continue to do our utmost to keep your automobile in safe, efficient operating condition . . . and to supply you with dependable transportation.

Obviously workers and their families must have:

1. essential automobile production to replace this unprecedented number of older cars
2. dealers' service departments and their skilled mechanics to keep millions of cars rolling
3. continued production of replacement parts.

'Poppy Day' Supports Welfare Program Of American Legion Auxiliary Here

Poppies Tribute To War Dead and Help Disabled

Members of the Washington C. H. Legion Auxiliary today were making final preparations for the annual "Poppy Day" which will be held here Saturday.

The occasion will give the people of Washington C. H. and Fayette County not only an opportunity to pay tribute to America's war dead, but also to have a part in the welfare program of the American Legion's Women's Auxiliary.

The "Poppy Day" plan has been worked out so that everyone may give what he can afford; there is no price on the little red paper poppies; it is a free-will contribution.

"Poppy Day" is a nationwide event. It will be held all over the country on the same day and will follow essentially the same pattern everywhere.

The poppies, made of bright red crepe paper by disabled veterans of both world wars, will be offered on the streets of Washington C. H. Saturday from 7 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night.

Honor War Dead

Members of the Auxiliary--between 50 and 75 of them--are to offer the poppies on the streets. Whatever is paid for them is deposited in little containers and the poppies are pinned on coat lapels or fastened through button-holes and worn in honor of America's war dead.

Arrangements have been made for the Auxiliary members to handle the distribution in shifts--with enough in each shift to give the business section complete coverage all day and have enough left to carry out a door-to-door canvass.

All told, 30,000,000 hand-made poppies are to be put out from border to border Saturday. Of these, 5,000 will be offered in Washington C. H.

The disabled veterans who made the poppies get $22.50 per 1,000 for them. That money is their own, a spokesman for the Auxiliary here said. She explained that for many of those men, the money they get from their poppies is used for personal needs in the hospitals. For some, she added, it helps with the family budget.

The money for the poppies is taken out first and sent to the disabled veterans, it was said.

Welfare Program

What is left goes into the child welfare and veteran rehabilitation fund.

Two years ago, "Poppy Day" here netted approximately $750 and last year it brought in about $650. This year, the Auxiliary

The money, Mrs. Michael Helfrich, Jr., the sale chairman, said, goes for such as doctor bills, food, fuel and clothing.

She made it plain that the Auxiliary makes it a point to put the money to good use and not build up any reserves. Each year's "Poppy Day" receipts, Mrs. Helfrich said, are spent before the next "Poppy Day" comes around.

And, no matter how much is taken in, she said, "there is never enough . . . we have to be careful to have enough to take care of the most urgent cases."

Sale Is Well Planned

Preparations for "Poppy Day" have been going on for some time under the direction of Mrs. George Phillips, the Auxiliary president, and Mrs. Helfrich. Their aim has been to have a well co-ordinated organization ready to carry out the sale without a hitch Saturday. This week, the groundwork was laid when posters were placed in hopes to top the receipts of 1949.

Both the child welfare and veteran rehabilitation programs cover a wide and varied field of help.

While the child welfare program makes no distinction between children of veterans and those of non-veterans, the veteran rehabilitation program is devoted to veterans and their families.

Octogenarian Gives Property To Hospital Here

Mrs. S. J. Richardson Again Remembers Local Institution

Mrs. Sarah J. Richardson, "the flower woman", who was the first donor to the Fayette County Memorial Hospital, Wednesday afternoon deeded her property on the corner of Elm Street and Willard Street, to the trustees of the hospital, reserving a life estate in the property.

Mrs. Richardson first surprised and delighted the hospital committee by donating $500 in cash to the hospital fund.

Later she gave the committee

many show windows of the uptown stores.

The posters were made by Miss Pat Hillery. There are 14 of them, all painted by hand by Miss Hillery, in bright eye-catching colors and designs. They all carry out the poppy and welfare theme.

Miss Hillery, seriously handicapped since she was injured in an automobile accident, in 1943, has taken up poster painting for a livelihood. It is work she can do at her home and, besides, she said: "I always did like to paint." She also paints wall plaques and figurines which friends help her sell.

Bright and cheery in spite of the handicap, Miss Hillery said she has hopes of developing her poster and plaque business into something really worthwhile.

She was appreciative of the chance given her by the Auxiliary to do the "Poppy Day" posters and said so.

Miss Hillery was graduated from Washington C. H. High School in 1943 and then attended Miami-Jacobs Business College in Dayton in spite of her handicap.

Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Helfrich emphasized that the money from the "Poppy Day" sales "stay right here at home" where the Auxiliary carries out its own program of welfare and rehabilitation.

another $500 and still later a third gift, this time $1,000.

Now she has deeded her property, lot 321 in Willard's Addition, to the trustees of the hospital. The money derived from the property is to be used as the trustees deem best.

Mrs. Richardson made it clear that there were no strings tied to her gift.

"I think this is the best thing for me to do, and I am glad to do it", she said as she took the pen in her shaking hand to attach her name to the deed.

Mrs. Richardson has long grown large quantities of flowers in her large lot on Elm Street at Willard. From the money received from the flowers and other sources she saved the funds which she turned over to the hospital.

Last year $500, which she had secreted in the house and which she intended giving to the hospital, was stolen from its hiding place, leaving her almost completely without ready cash.

The hospital trustees are deeply grateful for the latest gift by Mrs. Richardson.

Russians Make Plans For Attack in Europe

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 24 —(P)— U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy said today that Communist leaders in western Germany are "indicating" to the party's inner circle that a Soviet attack may come any time "this year or next or the year after."

"When Red troops move westward, the faithful are told, party workers must be ready to perform allotted tasks of sabotage, erect road blocks, conduct partisan warfare and spot targets," McCloy said in his quarterly report to the state department.

"Communist party leaders in western Germany are intent upon imparting a sense of immediacy to trusted party workers," he added.

Propaganda Paves Way

McCloy said that in recent months the major Communist propaganda effort has come into clear focus:

"It is to undermine west Germans' will to resist aggression from the east and predispose them to accept Communist rule."

Communist propagandists, McCloy said, have chosen three themes understandably close to the hearts of all Germans -- peace, German unity and an early end to the occupation.

"The threat is made that German participation in western self-defense must mean war, not peace, and the spirit of neutralism is actively fostered to impede such participation on the one hand and allegedly to guarantee peace on the other," he explained.

The Reds "also maintain that the (west German) federal republic's participation in west European defense would cost the west Germans money, which is true, and allege that this burden would crush the German economy and standard of living, which it would not."

West Not Receptive

McCloy added that it appears unlikely that these propaganda tricks "would find many buyers in the western zones and least of all in Berlin, where Communist harassment continued but failed to slow down the gradual rehabilitation of its courageous people."

Communist influence is rejected by the bulk of the west German people anywhere it can be identified, he said. But in many cases sources are unidentified and in some cases a Communist "line" may be adopted, "particularly if it takes a non-sympathetic attitude toward the occupation powers."

The high commissioner said the Soviet Union is "gravely alarmed" at west Germany's economy recovery and "at the prospect it might be assimilated to the west to strengthen the community of free nations now banded together to resist Soviet aggression."

Soviet strategy, he declared, is the integration of Germany into the west.

Gang Killings Disrupt Life Of Indonesia

BANDUNG, Indonesia -- Gangs of marauders--many of them one-time guerrilla fighters who could not be included in the regular and sharply reduced armed forces of Indonesia -- are being blamed for Indonesia's current wave of crime and terror.

Marauding gangs roam the countryside, attack estates, and terrorize their own people. Holland recently protested to the Indonesian government against what was termed the continuous murders and attacks on Dutch lives. U. S. Ambassador H. Merle Cochran notified Indonesia's Foreign Minister of the assassination of an oil company employee Michael Jones, who was knifed to death at Jakarta's docks.

Jones was the fourth American to be killed in Indonesia since December 1949, when independence came to this rich but uneasy archipelago.

The Indonesian people themselves have suffered heavily too. Hundreds of village heads (lurahs), estate workers and "Dutch collaborators" were killed for political or material reasons.

Indonesian officials in Jakarta are seriously worried about the macabre crime record of their young republic and have little hope that things will change for the better at short notice. Then what's behind all the murders? Most, they think, must be regarded as individual killings.

Here an Indonesian worker feels he has been insulted and is on the prowl for personal and extremely drastic revenge. Next time and most of times it's plain robbery.

Placements Are Up 86 Percent At Office Here

Employment Center Gets 330 Jobs in First Four Months

During the first four months of this year the Ohio State Employment Center here made 330 placements, compared with 181 for the first four months in 1950, Ward C. Miller, manager, said Wednesday.

This big gain, of 86 percent, was one of the most remarkable increases for a similar length of time ever made here. In the older group of workers, 54 were given jobs the first four months this year and 23 in the first four months of 1950.

During the four months 17 in the Negro group were placed in jobs, compared with 13 for the same three months in 1950.

Physically handicapped persons placed reached five, compared with five for the same period last year.

In the youth group, 43 were placed in jobs this year and 32 in 1950.

Figures released by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation covering the first four months of 1951, tell a dramatic story of placement gains made by hard-to-place groups of Ohio workers -- among them, persons 45 and older, Negroes, the physically handicapped and youths under 21.

Older workers racked up the highest score, percentage-wise, with a total of 22,244 placements reported by the 82 local offices of the BUC. This was an increase of 105 percent over the placements made for older workers in the same period of 1950.

A PICTURE WITH SPECIAL APPEAL to golfers is to open at the Fayette Theater Sunday. It is entitled, "Follow the Sun," and is based on the true live love story of Ben and Valerie Hogan. It was filmed in the heart of American golfdom with Hogan, one of the top golfers of the world, in the hero role. He is shown in the above scene from the picture (at right) with three of his big name golfing pals--(left to right) Jimmy Demaret, Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Glenn Ford. Ford plays the part of Hogan in the picture. One of the highlights is the famous playoff of the Los Angeles Open between Sammy Snead and Hogan which was the climax of the little Texan's dramatic comeback after a near-fatal automobile accident.

Negro Placements High

Next in line was the placement score of Negroes, with a numerical count of 28,884 representing an increase of 101.8 percent over the first four months of 1950.

Placement figures for the physically handicapped were almost double those for the early months of 1950. A total of 6,579 jobs were filled by impaired workers for an increase of 92 percent.

Youth also shared generously in the job distribution. They came up with a total of 10,012 placements, representing an increase of 75 percent.

Ernest Cornell, BUC administrator, expressed himself as being "highly pleased" with the report. He said it indicated to him that employers understand and are co-operating fully in the efforts being made by the bureau to utilize community labor resources to the fullest extent.

"There could be no better indication," Cornell said, "that employers are taking a realistic view of the manpower situation, and are doing their best to make the greatest use of the community labor supply."

ASCAP Signs Pact With Jap Group

NEW YORK. —(P)— From now on, you'll have to pay for the privilege of singing or playing a Japanese song commercially in this country. The same goes for the Japanese who perform American tunes for profit in Japan.

This is the result of the first Oriental agreement signed by the American Society of Composers,

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache--feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills--a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts--help the millions of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Authors and Publishers. It concluded a mutual protection pact with the Japanese Society of Rights of Authors and Composers whereby the two societies would collect royalties for each other.

"Actually," says an ASCAP spokesman, "There's more in it for us than for them. The Japanese play about 80 percent more of our music than we perform of theirs. But Japanese tunes are performed quite a bit in Japanese cabarets along our Pacific coast."

ASCAP, which has had many long-standing royalty agreements with European nations but never before concluded one in the Far East, has 2,600 members. The Japanese society has 1,100.

Here's something Special in Spaciousness

A LOT of folks like the two-door idea, because they feel that tiny tots are safer in the back seat.

But that's no reason why back-seat headroom should be dimensioned for midgets only.

So Buick engineers have done something about it, in the Buick SPECIAL 2-door Sedan pictured here.

They've kept the compactness of overall length that's important in modern garages.

But they've arched that sturdy steel top to give you he-man headroom -- headroom in back as well as headroom in front -- that makes a six-footer feel at home.

And they've designed a trunk that has "room for tourists."

Don't ask us how they did it. Come see for yourself.

Slip into those spacious seats--and while you're there, find out why this compact honey is one of the hottest numbers we've seen in years.

Find out how that F-263 valve-in-head Fireball Engine pours out the power and stretches the miles per gallon.

Find out how Buick's exclusive combination of torque-tube drive and coil springs on all four wheels puts a car steadiness and stability into this nimble performer.

Find out how Dynaflo Drive* takes the strain out of traffic driving -- and brings you relaxed to the end of a long day's cross-country driving.

And above all find out how much comfort and luxury and convenience you get for the prices you see featured here. The sooner you see your Buick dealer--the better off you'll be.

Trouble Brewing On Price-cutting

Fair Trade Defiance May Aid Consumers

NEW YORK, May 24—(AP)—Will wide-spread price wars give consumers a break this summer?

Now that the fair trade laws of 45 states have been weakened by the supreme court, some fair trade advocates contend that without these price-fixing laws "predatory price-cutting" is in sight. They contend that threatens small business "with sudden extinction."

But some manufacturers are confident they can force retailers to hold the present price line by refusing to sell to any merchant who cuts prices. And many retailers say they see no price cutting likely.

Businessmen's first thoughts on the effect of the court upset seem to boil down to this: Where shortages exist and demand is high, manufacturers and retailers can probably hold the price line where it is now on brandname goods.

Where huge inventories and slow sales plague manufacturers and merchants, it's going to be mighty hard for manufacturers and big retailers to police the entire country and keep dealers from cutting prices to move stock, or to meet the competition from the store across the street.

Manufacturer's Rights

Manufacturers still have the right to enforce the fixed price on their goods where the retailer has agreed to it. The supreme court ruled Monday that the manufacturer no longer can make a dealer do so if he didn't sign the agreement. The laws of the 45 fair trade states had given the manufacturer that right.

People have been getting around the fair trade laws increasingly of late, critics of the laws say.

One method was used by large merchandising units who developed personalized brand names on products almost identical with the trademarked items of the manufacturers--and sometimes made by the same manufacturer, critics of the laws charge. The stores then sold their own brands at lower prices than the advertised articles.

Another method was the "buying club" where elements with cards could buy brand name products for less.

ducts for less. The clubs were like regular stores. Except that you couldn't walk in off the street without a card.

Still another method, growing of late because of heavy store inventories was the "personal deal." Shoppers paid the fair-trade listed price but they got things thrown in, or other forms of concessions that resulted in bargain prices.

Fair Trade Purpose

Advocates of the fair trade law contend they are primarily intended to guard the small businessmen from cut-throat competition.

tion--that is, to thwart the ruthless retailer who deliberately operates in the red to eliminate competition. So that he can then charge whatever he pleases.

The first fair trade law was in 1931 in California. Twenty-four other states had them by 1937, when the federal Miller-Tydings law gave them the blessing of being enforceable on goods in interstate commerce. At present the only states who don't have them are Texas, Vermont and Missouri, along with the District of Columbia.

An official in the anti-trust division of the justice department says: "The original idea may have been to protect a brand name. Now the idea is strictly a form of price fixing among competing retailers -- retailers trying to protect themselves against competition."

But the Bureau of Education on fair trade--which is sponsored by the National Association of Retail Druggists--says the supreme court ruling heralds "flash outbreaks of predatory price cutting" and that will "threaten our small business economy once again with sudden extinction."

The Wall Street Journal, however, says editorially today the fair trade laws were a breach in the anti-monopoly laws and that small businessmen can not benefit from a breakdown in anti-monopoly laws.

It adds: "The free enterprise system will break down when enterprisers cease to be enterprising; whenever they forget that they exist for the benefit of the consumer and begin to think that the consumer exists for their benefit."

The fly-shuttle, patented in 1733, was the first important step toward mechanization of the wool trade.

New Guide on Tipping Put Out for Tourists

NEW YORK—(AP)—Most hotel guests don't know how to tip properly. They either underdo it, or they overtip and don't know which employees they're supposed to tip, says one hotel owner here.

Irwin Kramer, boss of the Hotel Edison, says he has made a survey of the situation by studying data from 50 hostels around the nation and by examining reports of tips given to his own hotel staff in the past year.

First, Kramer states, the hotel clerk is not among the "tipping employees" in a hotel. Also, no hotel employee should get a tip unless he renders a service and is courteous.

* Bell-hops, he says, should get 25 cents when showing you to your room, 50 cents if he has to carry more than three pieces of luggage; door men should get no tip if he gets a cab for you which is in line -- 25 cents if he has to go out of his way to call a cab. Chamber maids and elevator operators, Kramer says, should get no tips except for special service or, in the case of the maid, after a week's stay.

Horses from Here Now Racing At 5 Widely Separated Tracks; Smith Has Winners at Toledo

With the harness horse racing season only just getting started, Fayette County horses already are pouncing the tracks from Chicago to New York and intermediate points—and, what's more, they're getting their share of the purse money.

Heading the list, on the basis of last year's record-breaking performances, is Floating Dream, owned by McKinley Kirk of Washington C. H. and the Valley Brothers of Waverly. She is now at Aurora, Ill., ready to make her debut in the Great Mid-West Pace Friday with Kirk at the reins.

At the other end of the line at Roosevelt Raceway in New York are some of the top horses of Eddie Cobb's stable. Several of their stablemates, including Rose Song, owned by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Rhoads of Washington C. H., are at Hamburg, N. Y.

Also at Roosevelt Raceway are half a dozen of the top horses of the Belle Aire Stable owned by G. Damon Baker, Fayette County road building materials contractor. There and ready for the long campaign at the swank track in charge of Jack Casey, the head trainer-driver for Belle Aire, are: Proclamation, a pacer; Linda B., a veteran pacer; Air Win, a 3-year-old pacer; Borneo, another pacer; McBeth, a trotter and Prolite, a 2-year-old trotter.

Rose Song, winner of the Governor's Cup at the Ohio State Fair last year, started this season with a win and a second in two starts at Yonkers, N. Y.

More than a dozen trotters and pacers that were trained at the Fairground here are now in the thick of the scrambles at Lebanon.

EDDIE BOYER, second trainer-driver for Belle Aire, has set something of a record with his accomplishments at Lebanon. Last week he started five horses and won five races without a miss. Victories were turned in by Belle Prone, a 3-year-old trotter; Joan Castle, a pacer; Brooklite, a 3-year-old pacer; Belle Ann, a 3-year-old pacer and Dick Spencer, a veteran trotter.

Boyer although a comparative youngster in the training and driving business, comes by his trade naturally. He is the grandson of A. G. Gordon, veteran owner-trainer-driver of Fayette County. Gordon has a few horses of his own.

Reds Beat Phils On Ted's Blooper

Marion's Magic Works on Braves

BY JACK HAND

(By The Associated Press) Ted Kluszewski, in the throes of one of his longest and worst batting slumps, finally got a hit in the clutch yesterday.

It wasn't a very robust blow—just a blooper over the infield—but it drove in the run the Cincinnati Reds needed to eke out a 4 to 3 victory over the Philadelphia Phils in 10 innings.

Cincinnati had to come from behind twice to give Willard Ramsdell his pitching victory over the Phils. At one time, the Reds were behind by 2 to 0.

They knotted the score with a pair of tallies in the sixth. That rally was marked by a perfectly executed double steal by Connie Ryan and Joe Adcock.

That deadlock continued until Dick Sisler nicked Ramsdell for a home run in the top of the 10th.

The Reds bounced right back for their two runs with singles by Bobby Adams, Ryan, Johnny Wyrostek and Kluszewski producing the two runs.

MARTY MARION has eliminated the caste system on the St. Louis Cardinal staff. No relievers. No starters. Just 10 pitchers. Everybody works every day if needed.

So far it has worked. In 32 games, Marion has used a total of 80 pitchers. Only 11 starters of his flu-stricken staff have gone the route. Still his Red Birds are perched in a second-place tie with Chicago, only 2½ games off the Brooklyn pace.

In recent games Marion has had the Midas touch with pitchers. Take yesterday's 6-5 win over Boston, for example.

Boston roughed up Howie Pollet for three runs in the second. The Braves were ready for more in the third when Roy Hartsfield walked and Earl Torgeson doubled him to third to tie the game. But Marion had enough of Pollet. In came Rookie Tom Poholsky, Saturday's starter, to smother the threat.

St. Louis came back with four off Max Surkont to take a 4-3 lead in the fourth. Two more in the sixth rolled Surkont. Poholsky rolled along, pitching shutout ball until the ninth. With one run in, and men on first and third, Marion yanked Poholsky and called on Ted Wilks. Wilks struck out Hartsfield but gave up a run when Nippy Jones fumbled a grounder.

Marion called for Max Lanier to pitch to left-hand-hitting Torgeson. It worked. Torgy fled to Stan Musial for the final out.

It was the second relief work-out for Lanier. Last year the chunky lefty was strictly a starter.

MARION'S MAGIC may be lost in the shuffle if that Brooklyn gang continues to pound those home runs. Gil Hodges hit No. 14, three ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace in 1927, and Billy Cox homered one with the bases loaded last night in the Dodgers' 11-4 romp over Pittsburgh.

Wally Westlake's 13th homer and a two-run spurt off Don Newcombe in the last of the ninth gave Pirate fans little cheer. It was the Bucs' sixth straight loss, leaving them in the National League cellar all by themselves.

Sal Maglie skirted 10 Chicago hits for his sixth straight victory for the New York Giants, 2-1, on the strength of Monte Irvin's two-run homer off Paul Minner in the fourth. Minner gave up only three other hits—all singles.

Willard Ramsdell got away with a 12-hitter for his third victory.

The Boston Red Sox slugged the battered St. Louis Browns, 12-0, with Mel Parnell throwing a four-hit shutout. Every Sox starter except Ted Williams hit safely in the

Fighter Left Hanging On Ropes--He Loses

DETROIT, May 24 —(AP)—You'll never win a fight by hanging upside down from the ring-side ropes.

Ask young Emrel Davidson, the huge heavyweight who just aches to be another Joe Louis.

Thousands of television viewers and a handful of Olympia Stadium fans saw California's Clarence Henry, No. 6 heavyweight contender, smash Davidson out of the ring in the eighth round last night.

Davidson, all 204 1/4 pounds of him, dangled by his feet head down from the lower strand of rope. Referee John Weber peeked over the side at the 22-year-old Detroit and halted the battle after 50 seconds of the round.

Davidson was leading by a narrow margin on two of the three officials' scorecards when the sudden end came.

Gasoline Consumption Record Set Last Year

NEW YORK, May 24 —(AP)—American consumers burned up more gasoline in 1950 than in any other year in the nation's history, the American Petroleum Institute reported today.

They used a record 40,613,400,000 gallons—up 8.26 per cent.

Record consumption of gasoline coincided with a 10.7 per cent increase in auto registrations. There were 40,313,715 passenger cars on the road last year, plus 8,604,448 trucks and 223,652 buses.

Jinx Broken By Red Birds

(By The Associated Press)

Kansas City's American Association lead had slipped to one game today after a blow-up of pitchers, including the former ace fireman of the New York Yankees, Joe Page.

Minneapolis blasted three Kansas City pitchers for seven runs in an eighth inning spree last night for a 9-3 victory.

Page, making his first appearance since being sent down by the Yankees, was nicked for the Millers final three runs.

Milwaukee drew within one game of the Blues by downing St. Paul, 5-2.

Another brilliant twirling job was by southpaw Leo Kiely who pitched Louisville to a 3-2 win over Toledo.

Automatic Transmission

Here's why we say LARGEST!

It's LONGEST—measuring 197½ inches from bumper to bumper. You can see that extra length in the longer, lower lines—feel it in the softer, smoother ride!

It's HEAVIEST—tipping the scales at 3140 pounds.* You can feel Chevrolet's big-car solidness in its steady, even way of going that keeps you relaxed and comfortable!

It has the WIDEST TREAD—spanning 58 ¾ inches between the rear wheels. That wider base means better roadability—contributes to Chevrolet's smooth, road-hugging ride!

You might well expect to pay a little more for the largest low-priced car . . . the longest, heaviest low-priced car with the widest tread. But not With all its extra size and weight—with all its exclusive features—Chevrolet is the lowest priced line in the low-price field. That means that pound for pound and inch for inch, Chevrolet offers you more car for your money!

*Styline De Luxe 4-Door Sedan, shipping weight.

Here's why we say FINEST!

FISHER BODY QUALITY—famous for style, luxury and the durable strength of Unisteel construction.

UNITIZED KNEE-ACTION RIDE—with airplane-type shock absorbers that are sealed for life.

VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINE ECONOMY—fine, dependable performance with Chevrolet's famous gas and oil economy.

WIDE-VIEW CURVED WINDSHIELD—and generous glass areas all around to give you Panoramic Visibility.

JUMBO-DRUM BRAKE SAFETY—largest brakes in the low-price field for smoother, safer, easier control.

SAFETY-SIGHT INSTRUMENT PANEL—designed for more convenient control and the elimination of windshield reflections.

TIME-PROVED POWER Glide AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION—first and finest in its field, coupled to a 105-h.p. valve-in-head engine. Optional on De Luxe models at extra cost.

MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

Curb Is Put on Armed Forces Seeking To Expand Facilities

By CLARENCE J. BROWN

The ways and means committee of the House, which has been considering a new tax bill in executive session for some time, has tentatively agreed upon the following tax changes: An increase in individual income taxes of three percentage points in each income tax bracket, to bring in an estimated new revenue of $2.9 billion; an increase of five percentage points in corporate income tax rates or from 25 percent to 30 percent on earnings of less than $25,000 and from 47 percent to 52 percent on earnings of more than $25,000 to bring in an additional $2 billion in revenue; an increase in excise taxes on liquor, beer, and wines, to bring in an additional $250 million; an increase of one cent per package in the tax on cigarettes, one-half cent per gallon on gasoline, and from the present seven percent tax to 10 percent on new passenger cars, to increase revenues by $500 million a year. The committee also voted a 10 percent levy on many home appliances, power lawnmowers, electric razors, movie projectors, too, not now taxed; and a 10 percent tax on the gross receipts of professional gamblers and book-makers. The committee rejected a proposed one cent tax on soft drinks, a 20 percent tax on candy and chewing gum, a five percent tax increase on local telephone bills, an increase in taxes on electric, gas and oil appliances. A 20 percent tax on china and glassware, and a tax levy on second-hand automobiles. The committee reduced from 25 percent to 20 percent tax on baby oil. Some time ago the committee also voted to levy a 20 percent withholding tax on all dividends and interest payments, similar to the provision in the 1950 House bill which was rejected by the Senate.

Because of arbitrary and peculiar attempts of the military and Civilian Defense officials to take over new apartment buildings and country estates, as well as certain other questionable real estate transactions, the Congress some time ago passed a bill requiring congressional approval of real estate transactions by these agencies involving more than $10,000. Early last week President Truman vetoed the measure, and on Thursday the House voted to override his veto, 312 to 68. Representative Vinson of Georgia, author of the bill, quoted from official statements made by President Truman when he was senator as to the necessity for the Congress to check military expenditures, especially for real estate. The armed forces have requested more than six billion dollars to expand present military installations and build new ones, in addition to appropriations already made. Congress has a responsibility to the taxpayers to check on how this money is spent.

Both the House and Senate, by unanimous vote, have adopted resolutions calling on the United Nations to require all member nations to place an embargo upon shipments of war materials to Communist China. The House has also unanimously adopted a resolution opposing admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

General Marshall's flustering and contradictory testimony, and Gen. Bradley's refusal to answer key questions, before the Senate committee investigating the MacArthur dismissal and our foreign policies in Asia have caused many senators to demand all the facts leading up to the dismissal of MacArthur. Marshall testified on one day that he attended a certain meeting on the MacArthur situation and the next day insisted he had not been present. Bradley could not remember who telephoned him to come to the White House to discuss the MacArthur dismissal, and refused to give the committee any information on the discussion between himself and the president on the situation. Seemingly we have two classes of generals -- political and military.

The Senate last week passed the India wheat bill to furnish that country $190 million worth of wheat on credit--the loan to bear two and one-half percent interest and to be paid off in thirty years. The House will have a similar measure before it this week.

Gen. Robert S. Beightler native of Union County, formerly in command of Ohio's famous 37th division, and commander of American forces in the Ryukyus Islands in the Far Pacific -- is now receiving medical attention at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, having been flown here by hospital plane from Japan last week. The

German Cabbies Full of Gripes

Those in Red Zone Are Even Worse Off

By RENE J. CAPPON
BERLIN, May 24 —(AP)— Asking a German cab driver about his business is like antagonizing a bull.

"What business?" snorted one cabbie. "On good days I may make seven marks ($1.66) for myself. My rent is due tomorrow and I've half of it ready. I don't smoke, don't drink, and barely eat."

Another veteran driver said he made more on tips before the war than on his regular earning (25 percent of the meter reading) now. He proposed a special Marshall plan for taximen.

Despite such discouraging circumstances, more than 700 cabs are rolling around west Berlin. Nine-tenths of the cabs are ancient and slow. The speedier ones bounce and pitch like destroyers on rough sea.

The machines -- held together by grit, thread and prayer -- are generally owned by small companies with two, three cabs apiece. Operating costs since the war soared to between 200 and 300 percent, the owners say, while rates have gone up only 35 percent.

Spare parts are difficult to come by. A brand new cab is still an extreme rarity six years after the war.

Some cabbies are handicapped also by the small size of their cars which hold only three persons in dubious comfort.

By contrast, you also see huge, box-shaped antiques which could swallow ten people -- though they'd probably crumble to dust if it were tried.

Better Than in Red Zone
At that, Berlin taximen are better off than their brethren in the Russian-occupied territories.

In Dessau, until quite recently at least, they had wood-burning cabs, chugging along disconsolately with a chimney for an exhaust and trailing smoke and occasional flame.

At Leipzig, the cabs are if possible still more dilapidated than in the west. Polished and well-fied with gasoline for the Leipzig fair, they gave an impression of brisk business until you listened to the driver. When the semi-annual fair is over, gas rations return to normal, meaning little or none. There's a black market, of course, but prices are almost prohibitive.

And anyhow, "who in this town has the money to ride cabs?", a Leipzig cabbie demanded. "I wouldn't ride in this egg-beater myself if I didn't have to. Don't repeat this here, it might be considered anti-state propaganda."

A West-Berlin taxi driver pointed up the dismal state of his clan like this:

"I'd do better collecting unemployment insurance, which isn't exactly luxurious. But I guess I prefer to drive around and pretend I'm making a living."

CHAPTER THIRTY
"HIYA, POLKS," Frazier said. "This is an unexpected. Care to say a few words which will be carried into every hamburger joint east of the Pecos?"

"Not me," McGann said. "I'm holding out for a guest shot with Phil Spitalny. Maybe Chary would."

She was smiling at Farwell with unusual warmth and McGann decided that she was still mad at him. He knew it when she put her hand on Frazier's arm and turned the charm on high. "I'd rather just listen to the master," she said. "Do that takeoff on Arthur Godfrey doing a takeoff on Gaen Drake."

"Oh, that," Farwell said modestly. "No, do it. You're wonderful on that."

McGann leaned against the wall and decided that nothing short of an attack of acute appendicitis would enable him to get back into the conversation. The music suddenly ended and Farwell slipped back to the microphone, picking up the tale of his mythical tallion with practiced nonchalance. He did the takeoff on the takeoff while Chary registered delight at him through the glass. Then he announced a medley of three numbers, which McGann knew would give them a chance to talk. Farwell came out again and turned down the speaker.

"That was simply terrific," Chary gushed, while Farwell looked pleased.

"Oh, no, you don't, McGann thought, and jumped in with both feet. "I want to borrow that will record Tompkins made," he said. "Holton told me he let you have it for your collection."

Farwell looked bewildered. "But I didn't get it."

"He sent it to you this afternoon."

Farwell shook his head and ran thin fingers nervously through his yellow hair. "Holton promised I could have it but it didn't arrive. I figured I'd have to pick it up."

"Pearson was supposed to bring it to you."

A light dawned in Farwell's eyes. "That ozonated Jeeves," he said. "That bird-baiting butler. He'd steal a worm from the first robin."

"He never delivered the record, then?"

"If he's gone south with that item," Farwell said, "I'll run him to Patagonia. Why do you realize?"

"You won't have to chase him that far," McGann said. "He's stopping in Jamaica to refuel. I'll take the short cut and head him off at the pass."

The engineer was waving frantically to Farwell. "Gotta get back to the mine," he said. "Can you stick around?" He ducked in before they could answer and was hardly back at the microphone when a young messenger came through the room. The messenger had a length of yellow teletype paper in his hand. He glanced at McGann and then slowed up, giving Chary both barrels. When he finally went inside he thrust the teletype before Farwell and continued to stare back at her. McGann turned the speaker up again. "...the boys and girls in the ballroom," Farwell was saying, and stopped, scanning the message. "We interrupt this broadcast," he said, "to bring you a special bulletin from our news room. There was a curious timbre in his voice and he looked out at them with a drawn face.

"Police tonight sounded an eight-state alarm for the apprehension of Dinkman 'Dink' Wexton, a New York newspaperman, in connection with the recent murder of Ronald Tompkins. Wexton, an intimate of the slain copper-heir, is wanted for questioning in several newly uncovered phases of the investigation, according to Deputy Inspector Cornelius O'Callahan."

"Dink!" Chary gasped. "They're crazy," McGann said. "He took Chary's arm and signaled that they were going. Farwell had started his sacred commercial and spread his hands helplessly. "That's why I'm going to ask you right now to send in your check to the Book-of-the-Hour Club," he intoned. "You will receive by return mail--and in a plain wrapper--that passionate, pulsating novel of a Yankee heart aflame on foreign shores--The Sultan From Salem!"

"Go-ing," McGann mouthed, pointing to the outer door.

Farwell grimaced and held up a fistful of typewritten pages. "When a man from Mass meets a maid whose only code is Love," he said desperately, "no harem can hold her. And don't let anybody hold you from sitting down right now and writing out that check. I repeat--"

"Let's go," McGann said. "Some of these commercials are longer than the books."

"All right," Chary said. The false gaiety had fled. Her eyes were inexpressibly weary. "What do you suppose they'll do to Dink?"

"They've got to find him first."

"What are you going to do now?"

"I've got to figure a few angles," McGann said evasively. "Will you do some hing for me?"

"What?"

"Go back to the hotel. Stay there like you did before and get some rest. I'll call you."

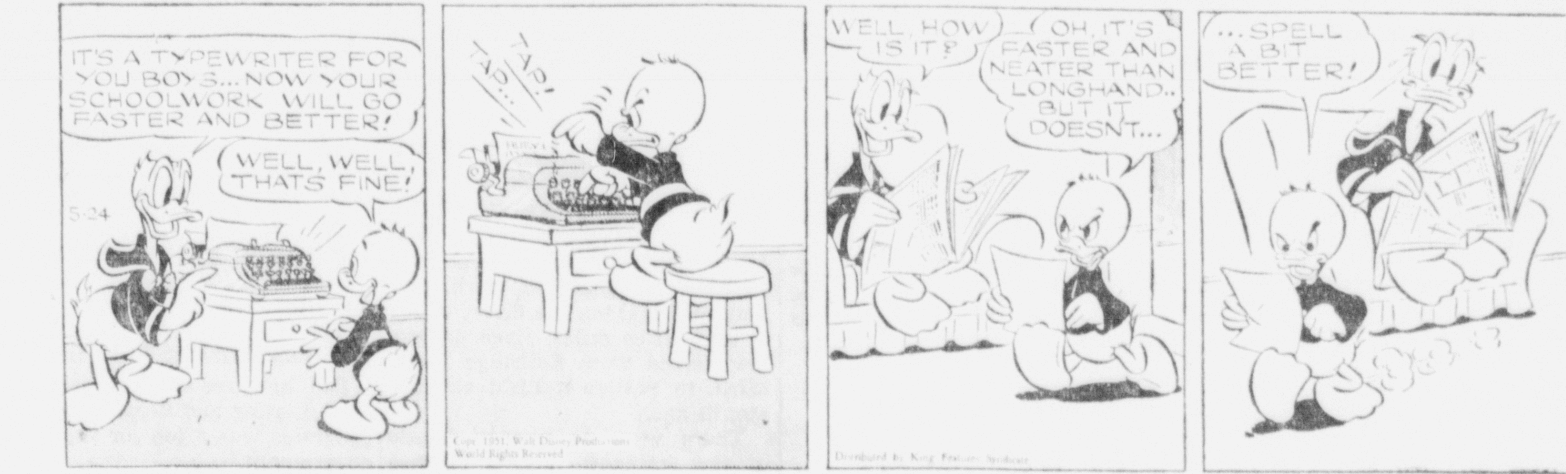

He signaled a cab and it swerved over and he put her in. "The Waldorf," he said, thrusting a bill at the driver. He smiled at her through the window but her face was set. The cab pulled away in a minute he got another one. He gave the driver the address of his East 47th Street garage and bounced back against the leather as it leaped forward.

The attendant brought the convertible out. "Anybody been look-

Democracy Not Cheap, Speaker Tells '51 Grads

Madison Mills Has Graduation; Award Made for Scholarship

"When you have a thing as precious as democracy, the price doesn't come cheap," Representative Arthur H. Milner told the graduating class of Madison Mills High School at their commencement Wednesday evening.

Milner, representative to the State Legislature from Highland County and a former teacher at Madison Mills, spoke to the 10 graduates in the flower bedecked auditorium of the school.

"We can keep democracy," he said, "if we are willing to pay the price."

The price, he continued, is the willingness to work hard and to assume responsibility.

Supt. Milford Barker awarded a scholarship to Ronald Hidy for his outstanding academic work in the school.

Helen Ward was the runner-up in scholastic work and will be eligible for the scholarship award if Hidy decides not to take it.

The award provides $200 toward tuition at Ohio State University or $50 a semester at Wilmington College.

Hidy wants to go into farm work for himself and, according to Barker, doesn't plan to take advantage of the award.

If Hidy doesn't accept the scholarship, Miss Ward plans to use the money offered toward her college work at Wilmington, Barker said.

The commencement exercises opened with the traditional graduation march, "Pomp and Circumstance," played by Ann Smith.

The robed seniors marched down the aisle and took their positions on the stage.

Following Rev. Guy Tucker's invocation, the high school chorus, under the direction of Charles Ruhl, sang, "In A Monastery Garden."

The high school band, also under the direction of Ruhl, played "Serenade," before Rep. Milner gave the main address.

After Rep. Milner gave his speech, the chorus sang, "In The Boat."

Delmar Mowery, head of the athletic department of the school, then presented the eighth grade awards.

As each of the robed senior's names were called, they stepped forward to receive their coveted diploma and a hearty handshake from Barker.

Those who received their diplomas were Roger Lynn Hays, class president; Robert L. Gillenwater, vice president; Rodney E. Vincent, secretary-treasurer; Mary Lou Coy, Ronald Hidy, Ted E. Kuntz, Helen Louise Ward, Donald Webb, James L. Woods and Clara Mae Walter.

Following the presentation of the diplomas, Barker announced the winner of the scholarship and the chorus sang, "Come Greet Spring" for the closing number on the program.

Members of the audience then filed past the now graduated seniors and offered their congratulations.

Living Cost Rise

dex figures were sufficient, incidentally, to assure the 1,000,000 auto industry workers of a three-cent hourly living cost adjustment based on the index. So if the four-cent improvement bonus is approved, auto workers will get a total seven-cent added hourly wage payment beginning in June.

3. The wage board also is in the process of changing its existing limit of 10 percent on wage hikes since January 1950.

4. DiSalle was reported ready to liberalize the price-posting requirements for small retailers. Hardware dealers, particularly, had complained they could not prepare charts on all the many small items in their stocks. Some sort of option for small dealers in figuring posted price ceilings was indicated.

County Courts

VERDICT FOR PLAINTIFF

A verdict in favor of the plaintiff was returned by the jury in the case of John Mercurio against Hughes and Looker, which had been under way in common pleas court here the past two days.

The verdict was returned about 6:55 P. M. Wednesday.

For what is said to have been the first time in local court annals, the attorneys for the plaintiff requested a special verdict of facts only, and the court determines what judgment should be made.

The special verdict found that the plaintiff was proceeding in a northerly direction and the defendant also was going in a northerly direction.

The defendant, the finding stated attempted to turn into a private drive without giving a signal.

Damage to the tractor trailer of the plaintiff was placed at $1,680. Nine jurors signed the special verdict.

Judge Rankin instructed the jury to return a finding for the plaintiff, and all jurors signed this verdict.

George Cowdery Dies Wednesday

George W. Cowdery, 75, well-known retired farmer and livestock raiser of the Bloomingburg community, died Wednesday at 6:30 P. M. at the home of his son, Gordon, who resides two miles east of Bloomingburg.

Mr. Cowdery had been in failing health for a year or more. Wednesday he ate lunch at the home of son, and soon afterwards he complained of feeling ill. He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage and lapsed into unconsciousness, dying a few hours later.

Mr. Cowdery was a native of Meigs County and a member of the Methodist Church at Long Bottom (Meigs County). Mrs. Cowdery died in 1939.

Surviving are his son and two grandchildren, Zana, 12 and Allen, W., 4; a sister, Mrs. Leah Stansburg, Parkersburg, W. Va.; three half-sisters and a half-brother, Mrs. Emma Prince, Meigs County; Mrs. Nellie Packard, Parkersburg; Mrs. Lena Parker, Belpre and Writ Cowdery, Meigs County.

Funeral services will be held at the Gerstner Funeral Home Saturday at 2 P. M. and burial will take place in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home at anytime.

John Spengler Killed in Crash

Fatal Auto Accident Near Patterson Field

Sgt. John Spengler, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Spengler, who reside on the White Oak Road, was killed in an auto accident early Thursday while riding to work at Patterson Field, according to word received by his parents.

A chaplain at the big air force base called in person at the Spengler residence Thursday morning to notify the parents of the accident and the death of their son.

Reports indicated that Sgt. Spengler was killed outright and two other persons involved in the accident were critically injured and were taken to the Patterson Field Hospital. One was not expected to live.

Few Details Known

Sgt. Spengler apparently was killed while driving from his barracks to his place of work. He had been making the drive, which is only three miles, since he was transferred from Selfridge Field, Mich. to Patterson Field about a month ago.

There were no further details of the accident. John's brother Wayne, who is a state highway patrolman in Dayton, was to return home with details of the accident sometime today (Thursday).

Sgt. Spengler was graduated from Jeffersonville High School in 1946, and had been in the air force for almost three years.

Survivors besides his parents and brother Wayne are as follows: Another brother, Dwight, who is employed at Arco and who resides near Bloomingburg and one sister, Mrs. Charles Trinkle of Louisville, Ky.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Baughn of Dayton Avenue, Washington C. H.

He was a member of the American Legion and Eagles Lodge here.

During the last world war, he served four years in the air corps. His body was brought here Thursday from the base hospital at Wright-Patterson Field, and taken to the home of his parents, who reside a short distance north of Washington C. H., on the Jeffersonville Road.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 3 P. M., at the home of his parents, and burial will be made in the Washington C. H. Cemetery under the direction of the Gerstner Funeral Home.

Friends may call at the residence after 7 P. M. Thursday.

fields of activity for the national government in the local field.

But he stressed "responsibility for initiating and keeping up such programs was a job for the home government."

"The minute it (government) gets farther from us it gets where we can't participate anymore," the speaker said.

"Let's don't have this constant demand that we go to Washington D. C. every time we want a job done," Taft said.

On the state level, Taft said there was need of attention to three major subjects; highways, stream pollution, personnel situation and apportionment.

About highways Taft had this to say: "We're going to have trucks . . . They ought to pay their way."

On the subject of stream pollution, he declared: "I don't see much interest from the state administration in stream pollution."

Concerning personnel management, Taft said morale was low in the state offices and some intelligent personnel program similar to those in use in industries should be instituted.

Hits National Administration

About apportionment Taft said: "This seems to be something not mentioned in the rural areas." He said it didn't seem fair to have a set-up where 13,000 people might have as much representation as from 75,000 to 90,000 people.

Taft said the "second rate administration" in control at the statehouse "has not been given any really intelligent concentration on these problems."

Switching to the national level,

Auto Stolen Here Wrecked in County

A Plymouth automobile owned by Mrs. George Ferguson, of 424 West Market Street, was stolen from its parking place at the Blue Moon Restaurant here between 9 and 11 P. M. Wednesday and wrecked in northern Fayette County afterwards.

The wreck occurred on the road leading from Yatesville to the Danville Road, at the Clark Durlinger farm.

The car plunged into one ditch, crossed the road to the opposite side, and turned completely about, after having turned over twice.

The thief escaped from the vehicle, but Sheriff Orland Hays is checking clues which may result in his arrest.

The car was badly damaged.

Farewell Services For Elias DeWees

Funeral services for Elias H. DeWees, veteran of World War I, were held Wednesday at 2 P. M. at the Parrett Funeral Home, with Rev. Arthur George in charge.

Rev. George offered prayer, read the Scriptures, delivered the sermon read the obituary, and the poem, "He Trusted God".

Mrs. Arthur George and Mrs. Wilbur Knisley sang "Beyond The Sunset" and "In The Garden".

Military honors were carried out at the grave by Company M, 166th Infantry Regimental Combat Team, Ohio National Guard, with Master Sergeant Loring G. Williams in charge. Other members of the firing squad were; Sgt. Kermit Jewell, Corp. Charles A. Wyatt, Private Dwight I. Duff, Private Robert Maag and Private Harold Chrisman.

Interment was made in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Carl Self, Homer Williams, Kenneth DeWees, John Thomas, LeRoy Thomas and William DeWees, Jr.

Those chosen to the executive committee were Mrs. Bob Wilson, Brooks B. Trueblood, Herbert Perrill, Frank Sollars and Mrs. Robert Minshall.

PAVING THE WAY CINCINNATI, May 24 —(P)—City Councilman Charles P. Taft announced today he will not be a candidate for re-election in November.

He gave two reasons for his decision—one of them that he may decide to run for governor on the Republican ticket.

The other reason was he believes people who have been in office for a considerable time should withdraw "so as not to discourage younger men from running."
